HEADED TO THE BAY

It's a Halloweekend series as the Sioux Falls Stampede are on the road to take on the Green Bay Gamblers this Friday and Saturday. The Gamblers sit at the bottom of the USHL's Eastern Conference, but no night in this league is an easy one, and Green Bay has four games in hand on Sioux Falls heading into the weekend.

Recently named a B-rated prospect by NHL Central Scouting, Gunnar Conboy leads the scoring race for the Gamblers, with three goals and five assists through nine games. Green Bay is 3-7 in their last 10 games, while Sioux Falls is not ahead by much, going 4-6 in their last 10 games, including back-to-back losses to the Omaha Lancers and Fargo Force. The Herd scored just one goal through the two weekend home games and are looking to have a bounce-back performance in Green Bay.

WORKING ONS AND WINS

Right now, Stampede head coach Ryan Cruthers has said he is looking to have his team find chemistry and consistent lines moving forward.

After hitting a stride for a few games, the Sioux Falls power play is going to have figure out something that works again, and what better weekend to do that than while on the road for a pair?

Tampa Bay Lightning prospect Cooper Soller has been held off the scoresheet for back-to-back games just twice this season, but he needs to find his way back on the board if he wants to prevent a third-consecutive game without scoring.

SIOUX FALLS PLAYERS TO WATCH

Forward Matthew Portz (Sacred Heart) has worked his way onto the full Stampede roster, after beginning the season as an affiliate player. He's been proving his consistency and slowly finding his scoring touch as the games roll on.

Scoring the only Stampede goal over the weekend, defenseman Noah Mannausau (Augustana) will be one to keep an eye on to see if he can do it again on the road against the Gamblers. Mannausau has two goals and two assists throughout his 14 games this season, with both goals coming at times where the Stampede have needed a boost of energy.

Through four games this season, Ilya Nikitins (Merrimack) sports a 2-2-0-0 record, which isn't telling of his overall performance this year. Don't expect Nikitins to start both games, but keep an eye out for him throughout the weekend. He has a .899SV% heading into the weekend, with a 3.03 GAA

OMAHA PLAYERS TO WATCH

Gunnar Conboy is going to have eyes on him all season long, but the Stampede have an even bigger to watch what he does this weekend and try to stop him from impressing on Friday and Saturday.

Green Bay netminder Joey Slavick is in the fourth season of his USHL career and off to a 3-4-0-0 start for the Gamblers. Slavick is sporting a .900SV% and a 3.16 GAA and the Gamblers are going to need him to display strong play to keep his team in both games this weekend.

Former member of the Herd Ritter Coombs signed with Green Bay as a free agent in September and this weekend marks the first time Coombs will suit up against the Stampede since his return to the USHL. Sioux Falls fans will be watching him a little closer throughout both games.
