GAME OVERVIEW

Geneva enters Saturday's game with a big early-season opportunity against the preseason favorites in the conference, W&J. The Golden Tornadoes picked up a big road win at Bethany on Saturday, while the Presidents earned the best win so far this year in conference on Saturday when they traveled to Case Western Reserve and won 35-7. Geneva has not beaten W&J since moving to Division III in 2007, and the Presidents have won 20 straight in the series dating back to 1983 when Geneva won 19-0. The Golden Tornadoes rely on their passing game behind quarterback Caleb Romano, while W&J has found tremendous success this year behind its ground game, led by junior running back Andrew Sharp.

GENEVA GAME NOTES

-- Saturday's game is the last of a month stretch where Geneva has not played at home. After opening the season with a home victory over Widener, the Golden Tornadoes went four straight weeks, three games and a bye, without playing on Reeves Field. After today, Geneva plays four of its next five games at home, including next Saturday's Homecoming matchup against Hiram.

-- A victory on Saturday would put Geneva in great shape to make run for a PAC Championship. The Golden Tornadoes don't play Grove City or Case Western Reserve this season, two of the other stronger programs in the conference. With 12 teams in the PAC, each school plays only eight of the other eleven schools.

-- Quarterback Caleb Romano has thrown for over 300 yards in each of Geneva's first three games, and he's now surpassed 5,000 career passing yards with 5,280 yards. He needs 1,222 yards to move into the top five in program history. With four passing touchdowns on Saturday at Bethany, he now has 47 for his career, which is tied for fourth in program history.

-- Romano continues to spread around his passes. On Saturday, Romano connected with eight different receivers, with freshman Jerry Davis breaking out for 95 yards and a touchdown. Four different players caught each of Romano's four touchdown passes. One concern is that Geneva's top receiver, junior Dayne Johnke, suffered an injury at Bethany and is uncertain for this week's game.

-- Geneva's defensive line again wreaked havoc in its game at Bethany on Saturday, generating five sacks and 12.0 TFLs. Senior Lonnie Craft was particularly impactful, finishing with three sacks and two forced fumbles.

-- Junior defensive back Jaden Duckett really played well against Bethany's talented passing attack, registering four tackles while breaking up a career high four passes. In total, Geneva's defensive backs broke up ten passes.

-- Noah Hutcherson and Coltin Hill are tied for second in the PAC with 5.0 TFLs.

W&J GAME NOTES

-- W&J was voted as the preseason favorites for this upcoming season after winning the PAC last year with a perfect 8-0 record. After its win on Saturday, the Presidents are now receiving votes in the Division III national rankings. Saturday's win was also the program's 800th career victory, only the third Division III school to hit that mark.

-- The Presidents are attacking defenses differently this season. After the graduation of star quarterback Kellen Stahl along with standout receivers Jacob Macosko and John Peduzzi, W&J has really hurt teams this year on the ground. In Saturday's win at Case Western, the Presidents ran for 341 yards and 33 attempts, averaging over 10 yards per attempt. Junior running back Andrew Sharp was the star of the game, rushing for 189 yards on just 15 attempts (12.4 avg), while scoring four touchdowns. He was named the PAC Offensive Player of the Week for his efforts. W&J threw the ball for just 48 yards in the game, their lowest total since at least 2007.

-- W&J has been utilizing two quarterbacks this year in sophomore Derek Burk and freshman Braylon Wagner. Burk has been the better passer, while Wagner has excelled running the ball, including 124 yards on just seven carries against Case Western Reserve.

-- The defense for W&J has also been very good, giving up just 11.0 points per game. Sophomore defensive lineman Alex Boyce leads the PAC with 5.5 TFLs and four sacks. The Presidents have four players in the top 11 in the PAC in TFLs.

-- Head Coach Mike Sirianni is now the longest tenured coach in the PAC with the retirement of Geno DeMarco. Sirianni, in his 24th season, has one year on Case Western Reserve. Coach Greg Debeljak. Sirianni's career record is 204-50, the best winning percentage (.803) of any coach in the NCAA with at least ten years of experience. The PAC has seen a lot of turnover in recent years, with eight of the 12 coaches in the conference with five years or less tenure at their school.

LAST MEETING (2025)

W&J came to Reeves Field at the end of last year for what was Head Coach Geno DeMarco's last home game of his storied 33-year career. Unfortunately, the Presidents proved too talented, storming out to a 28-0 halftime lead in what ended as 49-7 W&J win. Geneva struggled to find answers to W&J's quarterback Kellan Stahl, who threw for 384 yards and six touchdowns, with W&J's talented receiving duo of Jacob Macosko and John Peduzzi each grabbing three touchdowns apiece. Thankfully for the Golden Tornadoes, all three of those standout players, who were First Team All-PAC selections, have graduated. The one highlight for Geneva was quarterback Caleb Romano breaking the single season school passing record when he connected with Luke Crumbacher on a 65-yard touchdown pass.
