THE OPENING TIP

Following a dominant victory in the season opener at home, University of the Pacific women's basketball team (1-0) hits the road for the first time when it takes on No. 16 Washington (1-0) at 7:00 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 5, at Alaska Airlines Arena.

Pacific enters its first road opportunity of the season following a 105-42 victory over Simpson last Monday in the season opener at the Alex G. Spanos Center.

Sophia Mindermann paced Pacific offensively against the Simpson, scoring a game- and career-high 22 points, reaching the 20-point threshold for the first time in her career. Mindermann shot 47.1 percent (8-for-17) from the field throughout the contest and knocked down four three-pointers in 24 minutes. Her eight made field goals also surpassed her previous best of seven against Santa Clara on February 5, 2026.

Victoria Rivera impressed from distance in her first game as a member of the orange and black, shooting 75 percent (6-for-8) from the three-point line while scoring 14 of her 17 points in the first half of play. Yana Karamfilova and JoJo Nworie also added double-digit scoring performances in their first game as members of the orange and black, recording 15 and 13 points, respectively.

As a team, Pacific scored 105 points, tied for the seventh most in a single game, and posted its 13th 100-point performance in program history. The Tigers also added 52 rebounds, the third time the program has secured 50 or more boards in a game in the last four campaigns. LaMiracle Lebon led the Tigers in rebounding, collecting eight while Stella Szabo, Marina Radocaj, and Rivera combined for 16.

SEASON NOTES

A LOOK BACK AT 2025–26:

Pacific finished the 2025–26 season with an 11–19 overall record and a 6–12 mark in West Coast Conference play. The Tigers averaged 65.6 points per game, shot 40.3 percent from the field, and made 7.3 three-pointers per contest. They also shot 76.7 percent from the free-throw line and averaged 14.1 assists per game. On the defensive side, opponents averaged 68.7 points per game. These numbers provide a starting point for the 2026–27 team as it looks to improve its efficiency, limit opponents' scoring, and turn more competitive games into victories.

LOOKING TO TAKE THE NEXT STEP:

Pacific enters the 2026–27 season looking to improve on last year's results and move up the West Coast Conference standings. The Tigers finished 11–19 overall and 6–12 in conference play during the 2025–26 campaign. While the record left room for improvement, Pacific showed areas of promise, including its ability to shoot from the perimeter and get to the free-throw line. With six players returning and eight newcomers joining the program, the Tigers will have a different look this season. Bringing the group together early and finding consistency on both ends of the floor will be important as Pacific works toward a stronger finish.

RETURNING EXPERIENCE, NEW OPPORTUNITIES:

Pacific returns six players from last season's roster: Daria Nestorov, Sophia Mindermann, LaMiracle Lebon, Marina Radocaj, Liv Yergensen, and Stella Szabo. Having players who are already familiar with the program should help the Tigers as they work to integrate their new teammates. Nestorov returns as an important piece of the backcourt after averaging 10.4 points and 4.9 assists per game last season. Radocaj adds experience in the frontcourt, while Lebon provides another returning option at forward. Mindermann, Yergensen, and Szabo give Pacific additional continuity as the team looks to establish its rotation and build chemistry.

NESTOROV LEADS THE OFFENSE:

Daria Nestorov enters the season as one of Pacific's key returning players after a productive 2025–26 campaign. She averaged 10.4 points per game and finished with 147 assists, averaging 4.9 per contest. Her assists-per-game average ranked third in the West Coast Conference, while her total assists ranked fifth. Nestorov's ability to create scoring opportunities for others will be especially valuable as Pacific brings several new players into the lineup. Her experience handling the ball and directing the offense gives the Tigers a familiar presence in the backcourt.

A ROSTER WITH INTERNATIONAL EXPERIENCE:

Pacific's roster features players with backgrounds from several countries, bringing different basketball experiences to the program. Returning guard Daria Nestorov is from Zrenjanin, Serbia, while guard Stella Szabo is from Stockholm, Sweden. Forward Marina Radocaj is from Richmond, British Columbia, Canada, and newcomer Yana Karamfilova joins the Tigers after playing at South Florida. Center JoJo Nworie, who transfers from Colorado, adds another international connection to the roster. With players coming from different basketball environments, the Tigers will have an opportunity to bring together a variety of experiences and playing styles as the season progresses.

THREE TRANSFERS JOIN THE TIGERS:

Pacific adds three transfers with Division I experience: JoJo Nworie from Colorado, Victoria Rivera from Georgetown, and Yana Karamfilova from South Florida. The group gives the Tigers additional options at several positions and brings experience from other college programs. Nworie, a 6-5 center, adds size near the basket, while Rivera strengthens the guard group at 6-0. Karamfilova, a 6-2 forward, provides another option in the frontcourt. Their transition into Pacific's system will be an important storyline during the preseason as the coaching staff works to determine how the newcomers fit alongside the returning players.

FIVE FRESHMEN READY FOR THEIR FIRST SEASON:

The Tigers welcome five freshmen for 2026–27: Mia Jamias, Bella Burcar, Sofia Locati, Payton Montgomery, and Jordyn Dyer. The incoming class adds depth across the roster and gives Pacific more options as the team develops throughout the season. Montgomery joins the frontcourt as a 6-1 forward, while Burcar brings size to the backcourt at 6-0. Locati, Dyer, and Jamias add further guard depth. Adjusting to the pace and physicality of college basketball will be an important part of the freshmen's first season, and their development could give Pacific additional options as the schedule gets more demanding.

SIZE IN THE FRONTCOURT:

Pacific adds size to its frontcourt with the arrival of JoJo Nworie and the return of players such as Marina Radocaj and LaMiracle Lebon. Nworie stands 6-5, while Radocaj is 6-3 and Lebon is also 6-3. Their size gives the Tigers options around the basket on both ends of the floor. Rebounding, interior defense, and finishing scoring opportunities near the hoop will be important areas to watch. A strong frontcourt presence could also help Pacific create more second-chance opportunities and limit opponents to one shot per possession.

SHOOTING FROM THE PERIMETER:

Three-point shooting was one of Pacific's strengths during the 2025–26 season. The Tigers made 218 three-pointers, averaging 7.3 per game, which ranked as the fourth-highest single-season total in program history. Pacific shot 32.2 percent from beyond the arc while holding opponents to 29.6 percent. Carrying that perimeter production into the new season could be important as the Tigers look to create more space for their offense. With a new group of players joining the roster, finding consistent shooting options and developing chemistry on the perimeter will be key priorities.

MAKING FREE THROWS COUNT:

Pacific shot 76.7 percent from the free-throw line in 2025–26, compared with 74.7 percent for its opponents. Free throws can make a difference in close games, particularly during conference play when possessions become more valuable. Continuing to take advantage of those opportunities could help the Tigers turn competitive games into wins. Getting to the line also gives Pacific another way to score when perimeter shots are not falling, making it an area worth watching throughout the season.

FINDING CONSISTENCY ON DEFENSE:
Pacific averaged 65.6 points per game last season while allowing 68.7 points per contest. The Tigers will look to close that gap in 2026–27 by becoming more consistent defensively and limiting opponents' scoring opportunities. Rebounding will be part of that effort, as Pacific averaged 36.1 rebounds per game last season. Securing defensive rebounds, communicating through defensive possessions, and limiting second-chance points can help the Tigers control the pace of games. With several newcomers competing for playing time, establishing defensive responsibilities early will be especially important.

BUILDING CHEMISTRY WITH A NEW GROUP:
With eight newcomers joining six returners, Pacific will spend the early part of the season building chemistry and finding the combinations that work best. The returning players can help provide familiarity with the program, while the transfers bring experience from other college teams. The freshmen will also have an opportunity to learn from their older teammates as they adjust to the college game. Developing trust, sharing the ball, and establishing clear roles will be important as the Tigers work through the nonconference schedule and prepare for WCC competition.

PROTECTING THE HOME COURT:
The Alex G. Spanos Center will once again be Pacific's home court in 2026–27. Home games provide an opportunity for the Tigers to build momentum, gain confidence, and compete in front of their supporters. Pacific opens West Coast Conference play at home against Portland on Dec. 31 before traveling to Denver on Jan. 2. A strong start at home could help the Tigers build confidence heading into the heart of the conference schedule. As the season progresses, protecting home court and taking advantage of familiar surroundings will be important to Pacific's push up the standings.

A COMPETITIVE WEST COAST CONFERENCE:
Pacific was selected seventh in the 2026–27 West Coast Conference women's basketball preseason poll. Santa Clara was picked first with 74 points and four first-place votes, followed by Portland with 71 points and four votes. Loyola Marymount finished third in the poll with 63 points and two first-place votes. Pacific received 34 points, placing the Tigers seventh among the 10 teams. The preseason poll provides an early look at how the league is viewed entering the season, but Pacific will have the opportunity to establish its position through its performance on the court. Every conference matchup will provide a chance to gain ground in the standings.

A TESTING NONCONFERENCE SCHEDULE:
Pacific's 2026–27 schedule includes 31 games, with 13 nonconference matchups followed by an 18-game West Coast Conference schedule. The nonconference portion gives the Tigers time to develop their rotation, test themselves against different opponents, and work through the adjustments that come with a new roster. Pacific's schedule includes road games and neutral-site competition before conference play begins on Dec. 31 against Portland. Those early games will be valuable preparation for the demands of the WCC schedule, where familiarity with opponents and consistency from game to game can make a significant difference.

THE ROAD THROUGH CONFERENCE PLAY:
The West Coast Conference schedule will provide Pacific with a series of important tests throughout the winter. The Tigers open league play against Portland on Dec. 31 and travel to Denver on Jan. 2 for their first conference road game. The 18-game schedule gives Pacific opportunities to measure its progress against the rest of the league, both at home and away. Strong performances in conference play will be important as the Tigers look to improve on their 6–12 WCC record from last season and position themselves for the postseason tournament.

CHASING A POSTSEASON OPPORTUNITY:
The WCC Championship is scheduled for March 5–9, 2027, at Orleans Arena in Las Vegas. Pacific's regular-season results will determine its position entering the conference tournament, making each league game important. A stronger conference record would give the Tigers a better opportunity to enter the postseason with momentum. For a team bringing together returning players, transfers, and freshmen, the goal will be to continue improving throughout the season and be playing its best basketball when the tournament arrives.

BUILDING ON PROGRAM HISTORY:
Pacific has a history of success that the current team can look to as it works toward its goals. The Tigers went 27–8 in 2012–13, winning the Big West regular-season championship with a 14–4 conference record and earning two victories in the Women's National Invitation Tournament. The 27 wins remain a notable achievement in program history. Pacific followed that success with a 22–8 overall record and a 13–5 conference mark in 2014–15, finishing third in the WCC. Those seasons established a standard of competitive success that the program will look to reach again.

A STRONG COACHING FOUNDATION:
Head Coach Bradley Davis enters his 12th season leading Pacific women's basketball and his 21st year on the program's staff. His long tenure gives the Tigers continuity as they prepare for the 2026–27 campaign. Associate head coach Amy Starr joins assistants Amanda Brown and Jovana Subasic on the coaching staff, while Myles Sherman serves as assistant coach and director of player development and video coordinator. Kristen Vanzetti is the program's director of operations. The staff will play an important role in helping the new players adjust, developing the returning group, and preparing the team for the challenges of conference play.

All-Time Program Wins Leader	2025

Bradley Davis enters his 12th season as the head coach of the Tigers in 2026-27 and his 21st year on the Pacific women's basketball staff.

During the 2025-26 season, Davis became Pacific's all-time winningest coach after defeating UC San Diego on opening night. The 2025-26 team solidified itself as one of the program's most lethal from three-point range, connecting on the fourth most threes in a season in team history and defeating Simpson by 67 points, the second-highest margin of victory in team history. The Tigers finished the season at the WCC Championship after receiving a first-round bye and almost completing a comeback win over former Power Five opponent Washington State. Sydney Ward and sophomore Winner Bartholomew shone for the Tigers and, as a result, earned All-WCC Honorable Mention recognition.

The 2024-25 season saw the Tigers pick up their first-ever win over a Big-12 opponent when Pacific upset Houston at the Big Easy Classic in New Orleans over Thanksgiving. Davis also coached Pacific to its first-ever wins over Oregon State, knocking off the Beavers twice at home in overtime thrillers. This allowed the Tigers to earn a bye in the WCC Championship, where they opened with a win over No. 11-seeded San Diego. Then upset No. 6-seeded Saint Mary's to reach the quarterfinals, where the team bowed out after a close contest against third-seeded Washington State. Their showing in the conference tournament earned the team a bid to the WNIT and a home match against New Mexico State, which the team would narrowly drop. Sophomore Marina Radocaj and junior Sydney Ward helped anchor a defense that set a new program record for single-season blocks.

Anaya James and Liz Smith both earned Second Team All-WCC honors. They ended their careers as top-10 players in several categories in Pacific history alongside teammate Elizabeth Elliott.

The Tigers made a strong run at the end of the 2022-23 season, winning their final three home games and a road game at Saint Mary's to earn a first-round bye in the West Coast Conference Championship. As the No. 6 seed, the Tigers knocked off No. 7-seeded Saint Mary's in the second round and upset No. 3-seeded San Diego in the quarterfinals to advance to the semifinals for the first time since 2018. Pacific dropped a 75-72 contest to eventual champion Portland in the semifinals.

Liz Smith, who led the team in scoring, was a First-Team All-WCC choice while senior Sam Ashby was an honorable mention All-WCC selection. Davis picked up his 100th career win as the head coach of the Tigers with a 69-61 win over LMU on February 2, 2023.

In 2021-22, with one of the youngest teams in the conference, Davis coached the Tigers to a 6-23 overall record and a 3-14 conference record. The Tigers fell in the first round to Santa Clara in the WCC Tournament. The young players shined for the Tigers, with Anaya James and Elizabeth Elliott both being named to the WCC All-Freshmen Team. James was also named an All-WCC Honorable Mention selection.

The 2020-21 Tigers played an abbreviated schedule due to COVID-19. Pacific started the season at home against No. 1 Stanford. After a setback to the Cardinal, the team picked up big wins over LSU, 73-64, and UNLV, 77-75, to win the Duel in the Desert. Battling through rescheduled games in the WCC season, the Tigers rallied late in the conference schedule, winning their last five regular-season games to even the conference record at 9-9. With a first-round loss in the WCC Tournament to Saint Mary's, Pacific finished at 11-11. Valerie Higgins made history in the 2021 WNBA Draft as she was the first player in program history to be drafted. Higgins was the first selection in the third round by the New York Liberty.

In 2019-20, the Tigers finished with a 17-14 record, marking the program's second consecutive winning record. That season saw two First-Team All-West Coast Conference honorees and five WCC All-Academic honorees, the most in program history. Pacific participated in the Preseason WNIT for the first time in program history, picking up a season-opening 89-60 win over UMKC and a 58-51 win at Drexel en route to a 5-1 opening record. The 2019-20 season also saw the 1,000th career point scored by Brooklyn McDavid and at least nine wins at the Alex G. Spanos Center for the third consecutive season.

In 2018-19, Davis led the Tigers to their first winning season since 2014-2015 as Pacific finished with a 19-13 overall record, placing them as the No. 6 seed in the WCC tournament after leading the conference with 75.2 points per game, a .751 free throw percentage and 10.1 steals per game. Pacific also notched a winning record at home for the second straight season while finishing with their first winning record in conference play (10-8) since 2014-15. Pacific accepted a bid to the WNIT in 2018-19, defeating Fresno State on the road in the first round. Davis helped Valerie Higgins earn WCC Defensive Player of the Year and First Team All-WCC honors, while Brooklyn McDavid also garnered First Team recognition.

The 2017-18 campaign featured the Tigers' deepest run in the WCC Tournament since the 2013-14 season, with Pacific reaching the semifinals as the No. 7 seed before falling to San Diego. Pacific tallied a 10-7 record at home with big wins over UCF and BYU, while its run in the WCC Championship helped GeAnna Luaulu-Summers earn an All-WCC Tournament selection, the Tigers' first since the 2013-14 season. Luaulu-Summers also garnered first team All-WCC honors while Ameela Li and Brooklyn McDavid earned honorable mention nods. McDavid also earned a spot on the First Team WCC All-Freshman squad.

In 2016-17, Davis' squad finished with a 10-21 overall mark, advancing to the quarterfinals of the West Coast Conference tournament and pulling off the program's second road win at Gonzaga in the Tigers' first four years in the WCC. Luaulu-Summers was named to the All-West Coast Conference First Team.

In 2015-16, Davis guided the team through an injury-plagued campaign with a 13-17 overall record. Of the Tigers' wins in 2015-16, Pacific posted signature victories on the road at North Carolina and at home over Gonzaga. Senior Hailie Eackles was named First Team All-West Coast Conference, while Desire Finnie earned All-WCC honorable mention accolades.

He was named the 10th head coach in Tiger program history on April 23, 2015, after spending the previous nine seasons on the staff of Pacific head coach Lynne Roberts, the 2014-15 West Coast Conference Co-Coach of the Year. Davis was promoted to Associate Head Coach by Roberts in 2012 and served three seasons in that role before moving to the head coach position. Throughout his tenure as both a head coach and associate head coach at Pacific, Davis has coached 12 all-conference selections, six all-freshman selections, one newcomer of the year and one defensive player of the year.

Pacific's strengths under Davis have been in the post, with the development of nine post players earning All-Conference accolades: Elizabeth Elliott (All-Freshmen Team 2022), Karen Dawkins (Honorable Mention 2007), Valerie Higgins (First Team 2019, 2021), Kendall Kenyon (Second Team 2013, First Team 2014), Brooklyn McDavid (Second Team 2019, Honorable Mention 2021, All-Freshman Team 2018), Danielle Peacon (Honorable Mention 2011), Kendall Rodriguez (First Team 2012, 2013), Amber Simmons (First Team 2009) and Christina Thompson (Honorable Mention 2010). Thompson was also named the Big West Sixth Woman of the Year in 2010, while Higgins was the WCC Defensive Player of the Year in 2019 and 2021.

As the associate head coach under Roberts, Davis' Tigers appeared at the top of their conference in scoring offense and transformed into a top contender in the Big West, setting a program record with 27 wins and winning the conference title in 2013. Furthermore, Pacific reached the postseason four straight years with WNIT appearances. The Tigers advanced to the second round in 2012 and the third round in 2013 before moving to the West Coast Conference.

Prior to coming to Pacific, Davis was the varsity girls' head coach at Chico High School in 2005-06, where he coached the Panthers to a Northern Section CIF Division I Championship. From 2003-05, Davis was the head coach at Durham High School, where he went 52-10 over two seasons. Overall, as a head coach, Davis posted a 78-13 (.857) record while advancing to the CIF State Championship tournament all three seasons. Davis also coached eight players who went on to play collegiate basketball, including two who played at the Division I level.

In addition to his coaching, Davis spent eight years as an English teacher at Chico High School. He earned his bachelor's degree in English from the University of California in 1995 and his teaching credential from Chico State in 1998.

Originally from Southern California, Davis spent most of his youth overseas with his family, living in Zaire, South Africa, Bahrain, and Switzerland, where he graduated from high school in Geneva.

NUMBERS TO KNOW

141 Bradley Davis earned his 141st win on November 3, 2025, defeating UC San Diego 69-66 to become the program's all-time leader in wins. He surpassed Melissa Taketa's previous program record of 140 wins.

7 Pacific has made seven Women's National Invitation Tournament (WNIT) appearances with Davis on the coaching staff.

3 Pacific reached the WCC Championship semifinals three times under Davis in the 2017-18, 2022-23 and 2023-24 seasons.

25 Valerie Higgins was selected 25th overall by the New York Liberty in 2021, Davis' first-ever player selected in the WNBA Draft.

To establish a coach's appeal on called out of bounds plays, called basket interference/goaltending plays, and restricted area plays throughout the game. Coaches will be permitted one challenge provided they have at least one legal timeout remaining. If the challenge is successful, the coach will be awarded a second, and final, challenge and will retain their timeout. If the challenge is unsuccessful, the coach will lose their challenge and timeout. In the last two minutes of the game and any overtime period, no challenge is needed on all called basket interference goaltending plays and restricted area plays as officials will review those plays as they currently do now.
